The DC drive 590L will “retire”

Background

The 590 series DC drives have been on the market since the early nineties. This is still the most common and the most flexible DC drive in the world and will remain so for many years to come.

However, the Link version 590L will “retire”. The production of the control board, i.e. the 590L Link door, will cease at the end of the year.

Do you have a 590L?

You have a 590L if there are two fibre optic cables connected to your DC drive.

Urgent

We recommend you to order a Link door for you spare part stock in case of urgent standstill.

We offer you the 590L Link door at a reduced price: SEK 9,900 (normal price: SEK 15,500)

Note! The last order date is 30th of November 2006.

After this date, we will not be able to offer new control boards. The defective boards will have to be repaired, which may cause production standstill during the repair. It is possible to mount a 590+ series control board (590PXD) together with a technology box (6055/Link/00). This also requires a software modification and will be a more expensive alternative.

The future

Of course we will be happy to offer you a future rebuilding of your machine. You will obtain not only a more reliable machine, but also high accuracy and great flexibility. Please do not hesitate to contact us.

Best regards,
